

Halfway from where to where?

Getting back into the community is tough, but you are up to the challenge. You have plans and goals but you need support.

You want to hold down a job or get an education. You want to stay clean and sober. You want to learn to be independent. You want to reunite with your family.

The good news is that these things can be done with the supports in our halfway home.

Dominion House hosts 10 male residents. It is a big old house in a good neighbourhood. Meals are mostly prepared by staff but everyone helps with some chores. We have TV, a garden, even a BBQ. Staff are in the house 24/7. Good bus service is a short walk away.

There are some rules. Some are set by parole, probation or your doctor. Other rules are the kind that all good families have: respect, honesty, trying your best, helping others. There is freedom too: passes for work or school, visits with family, sweats and ceremonies, time to work on your goals.

The balance of rules and freedom helps you get ready for successful reintegration into the community.

We respect all faith traditions.

Welcome home ...

Ask your parole officer or case worker for a parole application. Do it early in your sentence because it takes months to be considered.
